BLACK POSTAGE STAMPS. NATION'S MOURNING

TOKEN FOR HARKING

Washington, Aug. 15.—Black 2-cent postage stamps will be issued by the postoffice department as a token of mourning and respect for the late President Harding. Announcement was made today by Postmaster General Now, following a conference with President Coolidge. The stamps will be similar in size to those in use, but will bear a likeness of the late President.

The stamps will not be ready for several weeks and the issue will continue for an indefinite period. They will not in any way affect existing 2-cent stamps, which will be continued.

Although there is no precedent of such action the postmaster general said his authority is undoubted. President Coolidge gave whole-hearted approval and picked out two designs as his among several submitted by the postmaster general.

COAL COMMISSION HOLDS FIRST OF MEETINGS TODAY

New York, Aug. 16.—Anthracite miners and operators go into individual conferences with the United States Coal Commission today to thrash out a compromise which may avoid a strike scheduled for two weeks from Saturday.

The miners will give answer to the sudden decision of the operators for complete abandonment of the "check-off" by both sides.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers in a supplementary proposition, pointing out that the operators had been checking off on miners' salaries for 70 years for rent and grocery bills, suggested that it was unfair for them to continue the practice unless they permitted the union to check off for union dues.

The operators immediately answered this proposal with an agreement that they would cease their practice.

The conference got under way at 10:30 a. m. when representatives of the operators went into session with the Commission to transmit the reply, which was previously given out, and arrange for carrying on the work with the representatives of the miners in a session scheduled to start about noon.

Washington, Aug. 16.—President Coolidge today was the victor in the first round against the hard coal strike.

Abandonment by the miners of the check off system, whereby union dues were collected, in turn by concession of the operators permitted the President and his advisors to breathe more easily.

For the past week the impression had been growing in Washington that a strike in the anthracite field was almost unavoidable. That belief spurred the President to action and resulted in the calling of the New York meeting.

With a joint meeting in progress between the operators and miners in connection with the United States Coal Commission to arrange for resumption of wage negotiations, the President feels the strike danger virtually is past.

Good Time At Sister City, Curwensville, Every Night This Week

The Yellow Dogs of Curwensville and Clearfield who are in charge of the Labor Day celebration at Curwensville, are leaving nothing undone in their preliminary efforts to give our sister town the time of its history and visitors to the town will be well repaid for their trouble, because the celebration is really going to be worth while.

With a view to piling up the necessary shakels to finance the big time, the Yellow Dogs have taken over the carnival, which showed in Curwensville the first of the week under the auspices of the Daughters of Rebekah, and will continue same the balance of the week. The carnival is clean and all right and furnishes opportunity for both recreation and amusement.

Clearfield people should make it a point to patronize the carnival and also participate in the Labor Day celebration. Curwensville's people are liberal patrons of everything put on in Clearfield and there is opportunity at this time for a little reciprocation.

Record Breaking Crowd Here For Convention

NEW PRESIDENT SPEAKS STRAIGHT FROM THE SHOULDER IN HIS FIRST INTERVIEW GRANTED NATION'S PRESS

Makes Most Favorable
Impression by Clarity
of His Answers to the
Questions Put to Him.

STATES HIS POLICY

Washington, Aug. 16.—About 100 members of the corps of Washington correspondents burst into ringing applause at the conclusion of their first group interview Tuesday with President Coolidge. He had amazed them first, then compelled their admiration by his ease of manner, his candor and the clarity of his responses to inquiries relating to numerous questions of policy.

The "Silent Cal" they had expected to meet was absent. A reticent Vice President had become a frank, outspoken President, shying away from nothing and willing to expound his views and policies, that surprised some and captivated all.

The outburst of applause was as sincere a tribute as the corps of newsmen from every section of the country and of all manner of political faiths, ever gave a new President. His manner was so cordial, his responses so satisfying, and a humorous reference or two so genuine the correspondents trooped out into the White House grounds and had their pictures taken in the act of hurrahing and waving the new executive.

Mr. Coolidge came through with flying colors his first encounter with the newspaper men, who meet a President twice a week to ask him all manner of questions in behalf of American newspaper readers.

Standing with a sheaf of two-written questions before him, the President glanced through them. As fast as he could read them he gave his responses. The correspondents were permitted to learn his views on the coal situation, on agriculture, on Mexico, on the Harding Cabinet, on economy and the budget on his summer plans, on the Ruhr, on emigration.

At the outset it was again made unmistakable clear that President Coolidge intends to make President Harding's policies his policies in dealing with the many important problems before the Government and pressing for solution. The statement of his policies and his position made by Mr. Coolidge soon after taking the presidential oath still stands. He found no reason to qualify that statement today. What ever changes come in the policy will not come primarily as a result of the change of Administration but due to changing conditions. The same changes might well have been made had Mr. Harding lived.

No direct mention was made of President Harding's proposal of the adherence of the United States to the World Court, but the definite and emphatic outline given in President Coolidge's attitude on the Harding policies generally was accepted as indication of his position on the question. Authoritative intimation of the attitude of the Coolidge Administration on other questions follow:

Allied debts—The United States desires to collect all debts due. A beginning has been made in refunding the British debt and there will be no change in policy.

The Cabinet—President Coolidge desires every member of the Harding Cabinet to remain in office. All members of the cabinet are now back in Washington with the exception of Secretary Mellon, and Mr. Coolidge is confident that he will continue at his post.

Special session of Congress—The President knows of nothing at this time necessitating the calling of an extra session, but if a situation arises requiring the presence of Congress he will not hesitate to call it back to Washington.

Agriculture situation: The President has the greatest sympathy with farmers struggling against adverse conditions, but no legislation so far suggested to him would warrant the

PARADE WAS BEST EVER SEEN HERE

The firemen's parade at noon today was the best ever seen in this, the Central District. Never before did the fire ladders appear to a better advantage. Every company from every town in the district came with their uniforms and equipment in excellent shape and each view with the other for the nice string of prizes hung up by the general committee which certainly is to be complimented on the way they put it across.

Leading the parade were the Chiefs and ex-chiefs, honored members of the various companies in the district and the grand marshals looking their best. The DuBois Shop Band led with the musical end and they were very properly placed. They were dressed in natty white uniforms and marched with a snap and precision that won for them long applause. Following them came the black attired DuBois firemen and the contrast in colors gave the parade a sprightly appearance as it swung around the corner into view. The turnout was fine, they having almost two hundred in line. The DuBois delegation was followed by the Bingville Department which "started the war," "ended it" and did a lot of other things, according to their announcements.

Hope No. 2 of Phillipsburg was there in large numbers in their long blue coats, followed by the Phillipsburg City Band, an organization that any city ought to be proud of. Their chemical truck brought up the rear.

Then came the surprise of the parade—Morrisdale—with as fine a looking bunch of men as ever graced a firemen's parade and a lot of them too. Their new steel gray uniforms were a distinct hit. They were led by the Morrisdale Boys Band, an organization that is too well known to need much mention. They are always favorites.

The Citizens Company of Tyrone followed with its equipment and a large delegation in olive shirts. Their truck had a guard of honor in red shirts which set the whole thing off beautifully. They had two trucks in line. The Citizens Company was followed by the Blazing Arrow Company in red shirts and blue trousers, presenting a pleasing appearance and giving just a hint of old-time firemen's costumes. Osceola was represented by a truck properly manned, and its neighbor, Houtzdale, with a

HIRED GUNMAN LURKS TO SLAY HIM, JUDGE, TELLS ROTARY MEETING

Philadelphia Aug. 15.—A gunman from New Orleans, Judge Harry S. McDevitt told the Rotary Club at a luncheon today has been walking the streets of Philadelphia for three weeks with orders to kill both Judge John Monaghan and myself.

Judge McDevitt told of attempts against his life since he took up Judge Monaghan's drive against the sale and use of habit forming drugs.

The gunman, Judge McDevitt declared, was known to him. "He is no more dangerous than other peddlers of habit-forming drugs we have sent to the house of correction. In spite of all attempted intimidation, we are determined to break up the drug traffic in Philadelphia

238 DELEGATES PARTICIPATED IN THE BUSINESS SESSIONS HELD YESTERDAY; PATTON GETS THE 1924 CONVENTION

BOY, 6, STRUCK BY CAR TODAY FATALLY HURT

An accident which surgeons declare will result fatally, marred the big day of the Firemen's Convention this morning when an auto driven by Harry Phillips of the West Side hit the little six-year-old son of Mike Frederick, inflicting injuries of a serious nature.

According to eye witnesses the accident was unavoidable, the Phillips car running at a very moderate rate of speed. Near the corner of Merrill and Front street the little fellow ran out in the road in front of the car and the fender struck him at the base of the skull. He was picked up and rushed to the hospital, where his condition is very critical and there is no hope for his recovery.

Mr. Phillips stopped his car within a car length after the collision with the boy, has the reputation of being a very careful driver, and so far as meagre information at hand shows, is blameless.

OSCEOLA BUSINESS MEN HONOR YOUNG SCOUT LIFE SAVER

The monthly meeting of the Osceola Commercial Club was held in the new Masonic building on Tuesday evening, August 14th. With nearly all members present and a few invited guests, the meeting went off with a bang.

During the dinner, which was elegantly served by the ladies of the Osceola Methodist church, John K. Miller, of Tyrone, well known as a singer of merit, sang several selections which brought storms of applause. He was accompanied by Mr. Cree, also of Tyrone.

The speaker for the evening was Thos. M. Morgan, of Williamsport, secretary of the Clothiers' Association of Pennsylvania. His subject was "Organization," and he drove in to the hearts and minds of his audience many essentials which are necessary for successful organization.

The next item of interest was the presentation of a loving cup by the club to Raymond Carroll for his bravery in rescuing Frank Warner, a Phillipsburg boy, from a gas filled well at Camp Phillips on July 24th. The presentation speech was made by Rev. J. W. Skillington, of the Methodist church, and the occasion was most impressive. Both boys were present and each made a speech, as also did the fathers of the young fellows, James Carroll, of Osceola Mills, and F. W. Warner, of Phillipsburg.

Philipsburg Rotarians Hear Tyrone Road Will Be Opened August 24th

While no business of importance was taken up at Tuesday evening's Rotary meeting a most profitable and interesting time prevailed, it being "Testimonial Night," and Rev. Stephen McGorray was in charge.

Many members were called upon to tell what Rotary has meant to them and in most cases the idea of service was brought out in their experiences. H. B. Scott brought some interesting news to the club as well as to the people of the community in general—official word from Harrisburg to Clark Bros., road contractors on the mountain road between here and Tyrone, to open the new road for travel on the morning of Friday, August

ARMSTADT IS SCENE OF FATAL RIOTING; COMMUNISTS ACTIVE

Berlin, Aug. 16.—One man was killed and 12 Communists and 46 Monarchists arrested early today as a result of bitter rioting in Armstadt when Monarchists attempted to prevent printing of a Communist newspaper.

Other minor disorders were reported from many districts but on the whole the internal situation seemed to be clearing as Chancellor Stresemann's new government began to earnest its work of pacifying the republic and building up defense against France.

In the Halle and Red Saxony districts, however, it was indicated that measures might be necessary to for complete order was restored.

Communiste near Halle were reported driving workers from the field, seizing food and supplies and burning growing wheat crops. Similar disorders occurred in other sections of Saxony.

KLAN TO GET VALPARAISO UNIV.

Indianapolis, Aug. 15.—Negotiations have been completed for the taking over of Valparaiso University, located at Valparaiso, Ind., by the Ku Klux Klan organization. It was announced here tonight by Milton Elrod, editor of the "Flory Cross," official publication of the Klan.

The university, which is one of the oldest educational institutions in the country, will be called the National University, Elrod said.

SERIOUS RIOT AT STUBENVILLE AS KLAN IS ATTACKED

Staubenville, O., Aug. 16.—Darwin L. Gibson, member of the part of the Ku Klux Klan mobbed here last night, will recover, it was said today at Gill hospital where he was taken after being shot in the head from ambush. The shooting of Gibson climaxed a free-for-all fight when over 1,000 persons joined in an attack on the Klan party, which numbered about 100 persons, as they were leaving their meeting hall.

Twelve automobiles were wrecked and when police came to the scene in answer to a riot call, 12 persons were counted among the injured.

The fighting was said to have been the outgrowth of Tuesday's primary election, in which four Klan candidates were successful.

Staubenville and Jefferson county authorities today promised to investigate.

NEW PRESIDENT SPEAKS STRAIGHT

calling of an extra session. President Coolidge contemplates no such thing, and he has made it plain that he will remain in Washington and for some time will not leave the White House.

Coolidge's attitude is a surprise to many. It is a surprise because the President has been so busy with the press conferences and the inquiries as to whether Mr. Coolidge wished to adhere to the established order. The President does. He prefers the form of written question adopted by President Harding, but it is not sure that on some dull day he may not be willing to submit to oral inquiries.

Setting of the Room. President Coolidge had almost a clean desk. The room was not altered from the date of President Harding's final press conference. The gold clock on the mantel was gone but its glass cover remained. Several large stools of office had been cleared. The mahogany letter trays were bare. A golf bag and a golf bag were replaced by a single brass ash tray and match rack. President's engagement card was before him. There were less than a dozen letters on the left side of the desk. The familiar stack of Washington, Philadelphia, and New York newspapers—topped by the Marion Star—was not in evidence.

The President remained seated until the stragglers in the press corps filed in. Then he arose. Back of him stood Arnold Landvoigt and George Drexler, secret service men, as before. Judson C. Welliver, Mr. Harding's editorial aide was there with a pencil behind his ear, and retiring secretary George Christian leaned against the windows overlooking the sloping grounds of the white lot. In back of the crowd was "Dick" Jarvis, familiar figure on the running boards of Presidential cars in many cities for several years. Thus does a White House go on.

Friendship. Friendship is a strong and habitually inclination in two persons to promote the good and happiness of another—Spectator.

Those who never appreciated his character as Vice-President was self-imposed because he thought that the thing to do were discussing the "metamorphosis of Calvin Coolidge" had that he had him in the transition from Massachusetts Governor to Governor of Massachusetts, they would have anticipated just what they observed with some amazement shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon.

To mark in established order. A President is not quoted directly in the newspapers. He makes personal statements in the press. The practice is for more intimate relations between the Chief Executive and the man who most interpret his policies and messages to the country and press. It is possible, therefore, to report the language of President Coolidge in his own meeting with the press as a body. In this instance it is regrettable.

OLD FASHIONED CLOCKS

In lots of jewelry repair shops a casual glance is given these clocks and, "it can't be fixed," is the answer. Here we make a specialty of repairing these clocks and will go to any length to have them running for you. You would not like to have them running. It's quite a knack to repair these old-fashioned clocks. It requires the making of a piece right here in our shop, as the makers have gone out of business. But we know that these clocks are often time-hallowed heirlooms and you want them to run.

The interview opened with Gus J. Karger, veteran representative of the Cincinnati Times-Star, explaining the rule of the past governing White House press conferences, and an inquiry as to whether Mr. Coolidge wished to adhere to the established order. The President does. He prefers the form of written question adopted by President Harding, but it is not sure that on some dull day he may not be willing to submit to oral inquiries.

MEXICO CONFIDENT RECOGNITION WILL BE FORTHCOMING

Mexico City, Mex., Aug. 16.—So confident is Mexico that recommendations of the conference just ended here call for recognition of the Obregon government by the United States that they are considering a letter to President Coolidge asking that Charles B. Warren, American commissioner who played a leading part in the negotiations, be appointed ambassador to Mexico City. Warren is very popular here both with government officials and civilians. He knows Mexican law as do few Mexicans and his part in the discussion just concluded is discussed as generous and unselfish. The American commissioners, Warren and John Payne, are enroute to Laredo and tomorrow will enter Washington, where they will lay before the administration the result of the conference.

There is a big celebration being planned for this day and arrangements will no doubt be completed to journey to Tyrone over the new road with parties from neighboring towns and then Tyrone will return along to enjoy a big dinner at The Philip. This piece of road marks a very important link on the Lake-to-Sea highway, and should be fittingly observed.

$45,000,000 Worth of Studebaker Big-Sixes in 1922
The public paid more than forty-five million dollars for new Studebaker Big-Six automobiles in 1922, buying more of this model than of any other car selling in the same price field.
In the entire world there were only eleven other automobile manufacturers whose total sale of all models equaled the sale of Studebaker Big-Sixes for 1922, and no other manufacturer sold as many cars of the Big-Six class. In addition to the Big-Six, Studebaker builds the Special-Six and the Light-Six in large volume.
For the first quarter of 1923, Big-Six sales showed an increase of 70 per cent over the same period of 1922, evidencing the growing popularity of this model. Big-Six popularity is the result of Big-Six superiority. Materials and workmanship are unequaled in any car at any price, and unequaled in any car at the Big-Six price.
With its long 126-inch wheel base, big 4 1/2-inch tires, heavy frame, scientifically distributed load, long Studebaker-made springs, the Big-Six Speedster rides more comfortably than most cars selling at much more money. Its 37 1/2 x 5 motor delivers a world of power, plenty of speed and a quickness of getaway hard to equal.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. B. C.

The statement that Calvin Coolidge is the poorest man who ever entered the White House is contradicted by the known facts in the lives of some of his predecessors. The new President, as is well known, is a man of very moderate means, but there have been other Presidents who were equally lacking in worldly goods, and several who unquestionably were poorer off than he.

Lincoln was a poor man when he was elected President, and had he lived to serve out his term he would perhaps have retired worth only a few hundred dollars more than when he entered. Both he and Mrs. Lincoln were very liberal and gave away a great deal of money to people in distress.

Another poor man elected to the Presidency was McKinley. He was not only poor, but was in debt. By frugal management and the assistance of friends he was accumulating money when the assassin's bullet ended his life.

James Monroe entered the White House a very poor man, and he retired almost penniless. He lived well, but not extravagantly, while President, and he died so poor that he was buried at the expense of relatives. It took just 162 words to tell in his will what he wished done with the few dollars he left.

On the other hand, the most of the Presidents have been comfortably fixed financially, and some of them were exceedingly rich, according to the standard of their times. George Washington, for instance, had so much money and property to dispose of that his will covered twenty closely written pages, and if put into type would make five columns of an ordinary newspaper.

Van Buren was so wealthy that he did not trouble himself to draw his salary until the expiration of his four years, when he signed for an even $100,000. When he died he left a fortune of nearly half a million dollars.

John Adams died moderately well off, leaving about $75,000. His son, John Quincy Adams, died a rich man. He owned immense properties in Boston and Washington. Polk, Fillmore and Pierce were all rich men when elected President. Polk left an estate valued at $150,000. Fillmore was always frugal and added to his savings by marrying a woman of wealth, and was worth about $200,000. Pierce's estate was valued at about $50,000.

Thomas Jefferson, according to history, always put on a large amount of style and was rated as a very rich man, but in old age he was reduced to hard-pan and died so poor that if Congress had not purchased his library at $20,000 he would have been a pauper James Madison had a good bank account and considerable real estate when he became President, and it had not dwindled perceptibly when he retired. Andrew Jackson was another who was comfortably rich when he was chosen President. Buchanan was wealthy, too, as was also Andrew Johnson, but the latter was impoverished before death by assuming the debts of his son.

William Henry Harrison saved a goodly sum before becoming President. His grandson, Benjamin Harrison, was likewise economical and did worth $250,000. John Tyler added to his wealth by marrying a rich woman. Cleveland was a poor man when he entered the White House, but was quite wealthy at the conclusion of his second term. Grant managed to accumulate considerable money while in the Presidency but lost his fortune in the Grant & Ward failure. Hayes was always frugal and added to his fortune, while Garfield was only moderately well off. Roosevelt had a substantial competence. Taft was comfortably well off, while Wilson has royalties from his books and his second wife is a woman of wealth. Mr. Harding, according to report, was worth between $50,000 and $100,000. Arthur was the most extravagant of Presidents and left only a moderate fortune.

The resistance that a falling parachute offers to the air is greatly influenced by its shape. The latest one-man parachute, made of silk, varies from 18 to 30 feet in diameter, is slightly concave and offers resistance to the air, so that when carrying a man the rate of descent will not be more than 15 to 20 feet per second.

COOLIDGE MEANT JUST WHAT HE SAID

Those doubting Thomases who have been perturbed at what might happen to the national welfare because of President Coolidge's succession, had their answer, yesterday. The definite re-assertion of the Harding program, foreign and domestic, by the President, and a united and harmonious Cabinet will show the country that Mr. Coolidge meant what he said the morning President Harding died. It will be received everywhere with relief and profound satisfaction.

Mr. Coolidge's first Cabinet meeting possessed a significance which may attach to no other assemblage of his official advisers during the entire course of his incumbency. For its decisions and the relations which were found to exist among its members will be universally interpreted as marking the keynote of the Coolidge administration; the seal of its stability and the index of its intelligent determination.

The promise to adhere to the Harding policies made by Mr. Coolidge in his earliest announcement to the people must now be accepted everywhere, at home and abroad, at full par value. And the re-assertion by all the members of the Cabinet of their intention to retain their places and discharge their duties as though there had been no interruption of the continuity of their tenure is an assurance to the country against the swirling uncertainty that often attends a change so momentous as the installation of a new directing head of the Federal Government.

But the Cabinet went further than merely to make general promises in dealing with all unfinished issues and problems. There was comfort and re-assurance for the people of the Middle Atlantic and New England States in the statement that measures would be omitted to protect their interests in the event of a fuel supply in the event of a strike and that it would be the purpose of the Federal authorities to see that adequate fuels were forthcoming.

In the wider field of foreign relations the accord of the Cabinet was no less reassuring. The definite announcement was made that the Coolidge administration would stand firmly by the policies formulated in Secretary Owen's New Haven speech last December. In that carefully worded utterance the Secretary made it plain that while the United States was by no means indifferent to the problems and crises of Europe and stood ready to contribute its share in adjustment, the question was essentially an European one, the crux of which was reparations.

In re-affirming this general position of helplessness and impartiality with respect to reparations, the Government stands by its policy that the foreign war debts owed to the country must be paid, holding now, as it did then, that "the capacity to pay is not at all affected by the indebtedness of any of the Allies to us." The march of events in Europe, and especially in the Ruhr, has not materially changed this position, but has strengthened the determination of this Government not to be drawn into the disputes of the Allies as a party or otherwise, unless and until invited by all the parties interested. The President and the Cabinet are no more interested today than they were in December, when Secretary Owen enunciated the Government's policy, to be drawn into the conflict of interests and ambitions which are now severing the Allies and increasing the difficulties of a settlement.

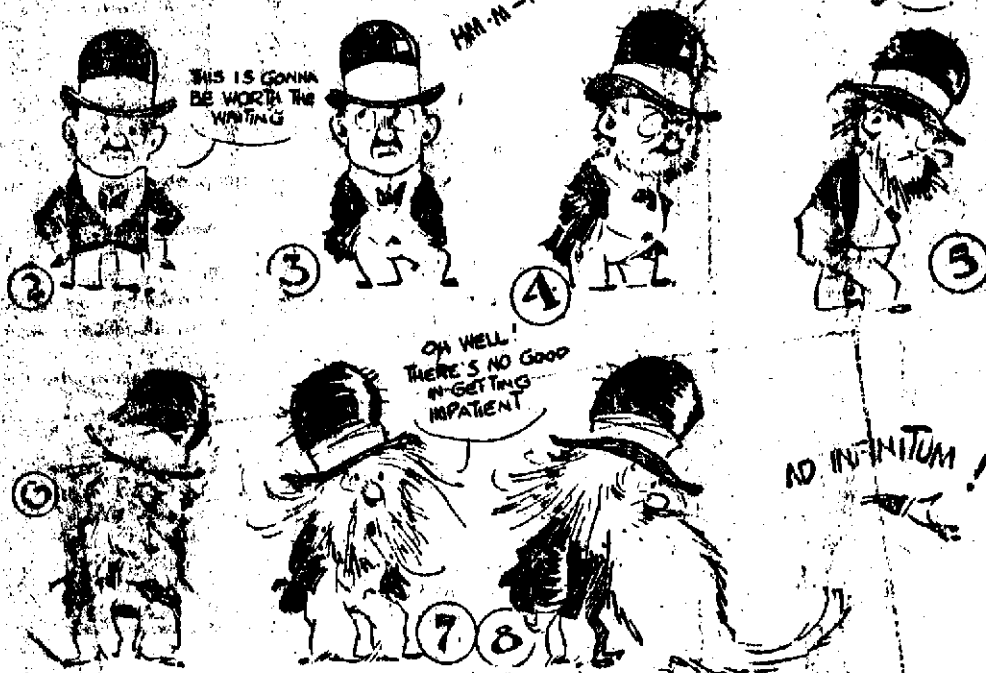

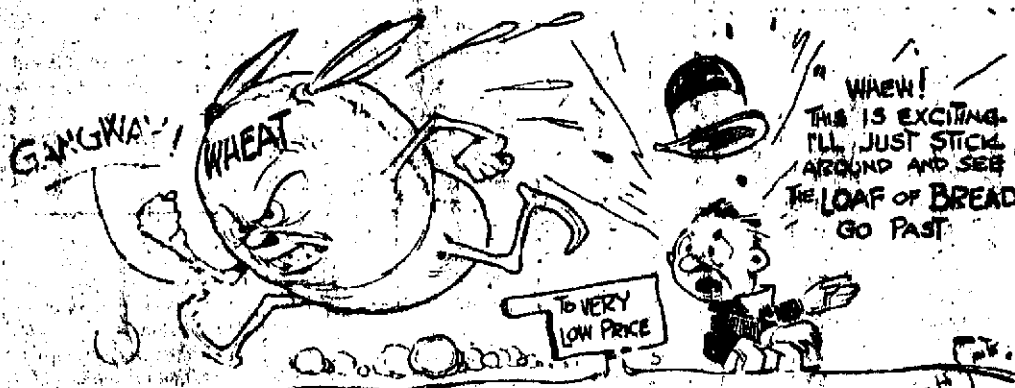

With the President and Cabinet united and harmonious, the country may rest content that the Government's prudent policy will not be altered, that it has not been affected by the propaganda from British sources devised to draw us into the maelstrom of European politics and that without seeking to intrude in those troubled waters it still holds itself in readiness to fulfill its obligations to civilization and humanity to keep the peace and contribute to the limit of its ability to the restoration of a disorganized and demoralized world. Progress Editorial For Women

FASHION AND FITNESS

By FLORENCE DAVIES

A certain New York business man and the Pope at Rome hold at least one view in common. The New York business man, tired of walking into his office and having an uneasy feeling that he had surprised a number of young women in their boudoirs or on the bathing beach, because of the array of bare arms and necks, finally made up his mind that his office was no place for half-dressed women. So he summoned one of the young ladies and told her that her job would be waiting for her if she cared to exchange herself and go home and put some clothes on.

The young lady was doubtless highly incensed. But good jobs, weren't plentiful, so she departed and unburied a frock with at least a semblance of decency. The next day some of the other young ladies took the hint and saved up a few all seams. Doubtless these modern business girls were no more highly affronted than a group of tourists in Rome who had been granted an audience with the Pope, but who found their way barred because they presented themselves with bare arms and necks. Their tears and protests were of avail when a richly garbed Holy Father explained to them that the Pope didn't approve of modern fashions. A hurried visit to the nearest shop resulted in the purchase of enough tulle to drape arms and shoulders and some of the visitors were allowed to enter, but surely not without some chagrin.

There is certainly nothing wicked about a bare arm or even about the curves of a lovely shoulder. But the designers of the sleeveless frock never intended their creations to be worn in a business office or on the public highway.

Yet for some strange reason women persist in these glaring inconsistencies in dress. Many a woman who would not think of serving pie for breakfast or oatmeal for dinner, blandly appears in a business office in a frock which must have been designed for a ball room, or a formal dinner. A man who appeared at the office of a morning in his dinner jacket would instantly be set down as either a little crazy or else certainly suffering from the effects of too much conviviality the night before.

Perhaps American women are the worst offenders in this matter of the lack of fitness in dress.

An American woman wears a beaded sleeveless gown on the street and may appear at dinner in the evening in a blouse if it suits her fancy; while an English woman wears a doecloak, dinner gown if the frock is ten years old and a little frayed and faded. But the changes are that she would find a frock with sleeves and without too many beads to wear to business.

The matter seems all the more strange when you remember that American women, when they want to be, are undoubtedly the best dressed women in the world. They know how to combine dash and smartness with good taste and comfort when they want to. Why, then, will they, with all their unmistakable flair for good dressing, let their sense of fitness so often utterly desert them?

Though the rebuke must have been humiliating, the Pope rendered women a very real service when he reminded us of the proprieties, and the business man who did the same thing just proved how easy it would be to create a better standard of taste among business women if the men said what they really think about it.

HEARD ALONG THE BANKS OF THE MOSHANNON

The Union Sunday School picnic will be held at Lakeside park, Morrisdale, Aug. 23rd. The union picnic is always one of the largest gatherings at that popular playground. Besides music, races and other diversions will be in order.

The silver jubilee of the ordination of Rev. Father E. J. Fischer, of St. Agnes Catholic church, Morrisdale, will be celebrated Tuesday, Aug. 21, with the following in order during the day. Solemn high field mass church lawn, 9:30 a. m., parade to Lakeside park; basket picnic; public reception, 2:30 p. m. Hon. Singleton Bell, of Clearfield, chairman; banquet, Morrisdale band; banquet for invited guests 6 p. m. C. P. Maxwell, toastmaster; entertainment at park, 9 p. m. A feature of the day will be the presence of the three mothers of Father Fischer, all priests. They will assist at the mass and take part in the other doings of the day. The field mass, a very rare thing, will be the first of its kind to be held in this section. The celebration is expected to be the biggest affair held at Lakeside park since its opening. Rev. Fischer has had charge of the Morrisdale church 23 years. He is known for miles around as a eloquent speaker and is held in high esteem by his parishioners as well as the people of other denominations.

Swarthmore Chautauqua is now in full blast at Philipsburg. Every evening the spacious tent is crowded with people, who greatly enjoy the fine entertainment given by the members. With the presence of Chautauqua the town seems to be in the midst of a week of holidays.

A heated argument ensued when a Hawk Run man driving a big car ran into a Ford which was parked along the state highway with two wheels on the cement. The accident happened a few nights ago. The driver of the car must have been coming at a pretty lively gait for the Ford was knocked from the road a distance of about 20 yards. The party in the big car stated the Ford had not been off the cement at all until he collided with it, while the owner of the Ford declared two wheels were on the cement. Under the new law the argument was only a waste of time since the regulations require the entire four wheels to be off the cement. To make matters worse the car was wrecked on a curve.

Mrs. Helen Carve, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Carve, former pastor of the Morrisdale Methodist Episcopal church, was united in marriage at Oak Park III Wednesday Aug. 8 to Mr. Ralph Bridgman Taylor. Friends here extend hearty felicitations.

Charles A. English, of Graham township, passed away Monday August 13, the result of a lingering illness from tuberculosis. He was 65 years old and well known for miles around. He was left to rest this

Wednesday afternoon in the Fairview cemetery.

Joseph Mekita, of Morrisdale, was injured while at work in the No. 9 shaft of the Morrisdale Coal Company Tuesday. He was working on a chain machine and sustained a compound fracture of the lower leg. He is now at the Cottage State hospital. Mrs. Juneta Lafey, of Hawk Run, who only recently was enabled to leave the Clearfield hospital following the amputation of one of her lower limbs, was again admitted to the hospital a few days ago and will no doubt have to undergo another operation, the limb, which was infected following a severe attack of pneumonia in the winter months, not healing up as it should. Mrs. Lafey has been bedfast most of the time since January. Her many friends are hoping that she may soon be able to stand and once again enjoy good health.

A large crowd from this section are contemplating attending the annual Frenchville picnic to be held August 22nd. Picnic day at that place is always a big affair and attended by hundreds.

"Tucker's Moriarty, 5 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Moriarty, of Hawk Run, who was run down by a big car at Morrisdale Sunday while on his way home from Sunday school sustained a compound fracture of the thigh and severe head bruises, and who was patient at the Cottage hospital at Philipsburg, is getting along finely. The first night at the hospital the other patients heard loud cries coming from the direction of little Tommy's cot and on inquiring what was the matter the little boy answered he wanted to take part in the parade and be present at

Father Fischer's silver jubilee celebration, and since he got "dat ole accident" he was afraid he couldn't go. The little lad, strong and sturdy, though too young to go to Sunday school for the purpose of learning his lessons, went merely so he could participate in the parade on the day of the jubilee celebration. Because he was so much interested he and another little boy from Hawk Run were placed at the head of the children's parade. This pleased "Tucker" and he drilled correctly. On a visitation at the hospital from Father Fischer who was told of what the little one was worried about, the reverend at once told Tommy that if his limb was in a cast at that time he would see that the boy took part in the parade and activities of the day by getting a cast for him to ride in on that day. Tommy replied that he would sooner walk. It was evident from the first that the very painful injuries of the limb were not bothering him as much as the fact that he might miss the parade. He is a favorite of all the nurses and in fact is liked by all who know him for his manly ways and big heart.

HORSESHOE MATTERS

As some teams are not prepared for the round robin games scheduled for August, it is necessary to know just who is to pitch in the elimination to be played the first two weeks in September, which will close the formal season. Any new men wishing to come in for the finals or any teams enrolled at present who do not intend to appear will kindly notify their ward chairman or the secretary at 213 Locust street so the elimination will not be spoiled by non-appearing teams. The thought now is to play them on the Keystone courts which are lighted. By running games every evening the series can be finished in two weeks.

Reason: Speed. Courtship was a more complicated process in the days, but there was no taxicab man to urge mink in

"Waverly" represents 43 years experience in the refining of quality petroleum products. Highest standards of manufacture are maintained.

Waverly Motor Oils are refined from Pennsylvania paraffine base crudes exclusively. A refinery would use Pennsylvania crude if there was enough of it to go around.

Waverly Motor Products insure clean operation. Motor Oils are filtered, not acid treated. Greases are all lubricant—no filler. Gasolines contain no dirty, heavy ends.

Waverly Gasoline is power to the last drop; no "clunkers" or unexplodable residue at low temperatures. Consequently, more power, minimum dilution of motor oil, freedom from carbon, easy starting and less cost per mile.

Waverly Motor Oils seal piston rings perfectly, distribute persistently on frictioning parts and thus conserve power. Because they are "Waverly" and "All Pennsylvania" they lubricate and do not "break" at high temperatures.

Waverly Greases give maximum, long-time lubrication and mean less wear, less repair and longer auto life.

Satisfactory, low-cost car operation, Winter and Summer, results from the regular use of Waverly Products.

Curwensville's Own Column

Miss Anna Reugax, of Niagara Falls, is a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vince DePalma.

"Tack!" Way an old time Curwensville boy, now located in Piquette, Mich., and engaged in the wholesale flour and feed trade, dropped in at his old friends yesterday for a few hours chat.

At a stated meeting of Joshua Earl Ship Post No. 565, American Legion, Tuesday evening, Comrade Paul G. Robinson was elected as delegate to the State convention to be held in Reading August 30th, to September 1st. Comrade Clarence Ammenman was chosen as the alternate representative.

St. Richards, J., is nursing a very painful wound in the shape of an abscess on the back of the right hand brought about from a slight bruise received a few days ago.

Andy Murphy and son of Pittsburgh were Curwensville visitors for a few hours yesterday afternoon. The Murphy family were former residents.

Smith (last) is compelled to be in bed for a few days on account of a sore finger which he injured some few days ago.

John V. Rafferty of Gram plan, was in town the other evening attending a directors' meeting of the Curwensville bank.

The ladies of Curwensville have organized a fair for selling Labor Day Ties to each family and were eager of Curwensville. Many of the Yellow Dogs have already paid their dollar to H. V. Smith, Secretary of the Yellow Dogs. This dollar will go into the Yellow Dog fund. If he is a wife or two there. If he is a single man he will be entitled to one more. The ladies will deliver the ties. This plan is that each head of a family will pay one dollar for two ties for himself and wife, and each son or daughter in the family outside of men and wife will pay one dollar for one tie.

Insect bites?
stops the itching and gives comfort.

These Tags are specially made for Curwensville, Clearfield and all contiguous territory. Clearfield has already responded very graciously and neighborly. Many of the Yellow Dogs here, and a few others have remitted a dollar or more for the benefit of Irvin Park.

The Chief Cur was hailed at the Clearfield Hospital on Tuesday by H. Connolly. Mr. Connolly immediately said, "I am not 'Skinny', but I want this dollar to go straight to the 'Skinny'." Fortunately "Skinny" had already paid a dollar. This mere shows the spirit of many of the Clearfield men.

The women on Friday of this week between the hours of 2 o'clock and 7 p. m., will call at each home in Curwensville to deliver the 400 per cent Tag and receive the dollar. Please be ready with the dollar, if you have not already paid, and thus facilitate the work of the women of Curwensville. The women having this matter in charge are: Mrs. George Sattelle, Chairman, Mrs. William McDonald, Mrs. Ralph Johnson, Mrs. Frank Tullen, Mrs. Grant Norris, Mrs. John Tuzay, Mrs. Harry Kittleberger, Mrs. Lynn Kester, Mrs. Dr. E. H. Edwards, Mrs. C. Doverspike, Mrs. Frank Leom, Mrs. Harry Rhodes, Mrs. J. Frank, Mrs. Frank Arnold, Mrs. J. After the above ladies have called on Friday they will all meet in the Patton High School Building to tie up the records and report failures. Where they have failed to secure a dollar for two tags from each head of the family or a dollar from any other wage earner for one tag, then a special committee will be appointed to make the second visit to the home to see if by any way Curwensville cannot put out its 100 Per cent Banner on Labor Day. It is now an assured fact that a moving picture show will be given on the grounds on the night of Labor Day, also that a dancing pavilion will be provided for those who wish to dance also that a vaudeville performer has been engaged to entertain between acts.

The Carnival Committee has arranged for ten harmless activities during the day. There will be something going on by direction of this committee all day. The Sports Committee has arranged

Dodge Makes Many Big Improvements In 1924 Models Now On Display

Marked improvement in appearance and comfort is apparent in the new line of Dodge Brothers Motor Cars, in the production of which the factory has been gathering momentum since July 1. Hundreds of dealers are now supplied with display cars of the new type, and from every source the factory is receiving reports of enthusiastic approval by the public.

While the basic characteristics of the familiar Dodge Brothers cars of recent days are still present, there is an air of distinctiveness that surpasses all previous efforts of this concern to build a moderately priced car of commendable appearance as well as quality.

The wheelbase is a trifle longer, the body is lower and the rear springs changed to semi-elliptical type are underslung, and increased from 45 to 55 inches in length.

The effect of the longer and lower body and longer wheelbase, combined with the new lines and lower seats, is very fine. According to dealers and others who have driven the new cars, the improvement in riding qualities is no less pronounced than the improvement in general design. The reduction in body height lowers the center of gravity and thereby reduces sideways, while rebound shocks are effectively dissipated by the improved front and rear springs. The car holds the road easily and gracefully and affords real riding comfort.

The rear seat and all upholstery of the touring car are removable, affording a large space for loading luggage or other articles. Seats in all types are deeper and lower, adding to comfort and leg room.

Brake pedal pads are larger and of a design which makes for greater ease and safety. The hand brake lever, like the shifting lever, is moved forward, giving more leg room and making it easier to get in and out. A Yale lock is built into the transmission, making it possible to double-lock the car when idle.

Wonderful Results from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Beloit, Wis.—"My female trouble was brought on by overwork. I had worked in stores and had to do heavier work than my strength could stand, and had to be on my feet most of the time. Finally I had to give up this work entirely and stay at home. Doctor's medicine did not give me much relief, and my mother wanted me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took a couple of bottles of it and thought it didn't help me as much as I should, so I gave it up to try something else. Nothing I took helped me much, so I finally decided to give the Vegetable Compound another trial and to take enough of it to make sure it would help me. I have taken it over a year now and it has brought wonderful results. I have gained from 98 to 110 pounds and am keeping house now. My friends all notice the change in my health. I will be glad to answer all letters that women write to me about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. W. G. Monson, 1515 Park Ave., Beloit, Wis. BLACK POSTAGE STAMPS. NATION'S MOURNING

TOKEN FOR MOURNING

Washington, Aug. 15.—Black 2-cent postage stamps will be issued by the postoffice department as a token of mourning and respect for the late President Harding. Announcement was made today by Postmaster General Now, following a conference with President Coolidge. The stamps will be similar in size to those in use, but will bear a likeness of the late President.

The stamps will not be ready for several weeks and the issue will continue for an indefinite period. They will not in any way affect existing 2-cent stamps, which will be continued.

Although there is no precedent of such action the postmaster general said his authority is undoubted. President Coolidge gave "whole-hearted approval" and picked out two designs as his among several submitted by the postmaster general.

COAL COMMISSION HOLDS FIRST OF MEETINGS TODAY

New York, Aug. 16.—Anthracite miners and operators go into individual conferences with the United States Coal Commission today to throw out a compromise which may avoid a strike scheduled for two weeks from Saturday.

The miners will give answer to the sudden decision of the operators for complete abandonment of the "check-off" by both sides.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers in a supplementary proposition, pointing out that the operators had been checking off on miners' salaries for 70 years for rent and grocery bills, suggested that it was unfair for them to continue the practice unless they permitted the union to check off for union dues.

The operators immediately answered this proposal with an agreement that they would cease their practice.

The conference got under way at 10:30 a. m. when representatives of the operators went into session with the Commission to transmit the reply, which was previously given out, and arrange for carrying on the work with the representatives of the miners in a session scheduled to start about noon.

Washington, Aug. 16.—President Coolidge today was the victor in the first round against the hard coal strike.

Abandonment by the miners of the check off system, whereby union dues were collected, in turn by concession of the operators permitted the President and his advisors to breathe more easily.

For the past week the impression had been growing in Washington that a strike in the anthracite field was almost unavoidable. That belief spurred the President to action and resulted in the calling of the New York meeting.

With a joint meeting in progress between the operators and miners in connection with the United States Coal Commission to arrange for resumption of wage negotiations, the President feels the strike danger virtually is past.

Good Time At Sister City, Curwensville, Every Night This Week

The Yellow Dogs of Curwensville and Clearfield who are in charge of the Labor Day celebration at Curwensville, are leaving nothing undone in their preliminary efforts to give our sister town the time of its history and visitors to the town will be well repaid for their trouble, because the celebration is really going to be worth while.

With a view to piling up the necessary shakels to finance the big time, the Yellow Dogs have taken over the carnival, which showed in Curwensville the first of the week under the auspices of the Daughters of Rebekah, and will continue same the balance of the week. The carnival is clean and all right and furnishes opportunity for both recreation and amusement.

Clearfield people should make it a point to patronize the carnival and also participate in the Labor Day celebration. Curwensville's people are liberal patrons of everything put on in Clearfield and there is opportunity at this time for a little reciprocation.

NEW PRESIDENT SPEAKS STRAIGHT FROM THE SHOULDER IN HIS FIRST INTERVIEW GRANTED NATION'S PRESS

Makes Most Favorable
Impression by Clarity
of His Answers to the
Questions Put to Him.

STATES HIS POLICY

Washington, Aug. 16.—About 100 members of the corps of Washington correspondents burst into ringing applause at the conclusion of their first group interview Tuesday with President Coolidge. He had amazed them first, then compelled their admiration by his ease of manner, his candor and the clarity of his responses to inquiries relating to numerous questions of policy.

The "Silent Cal" they had expected to meet was absent. A reticent Vice President had become a frank, outspoken President, shying away from nothing and willing to expound his views and policies, that surprised some and captivated all.

The outburst of applause was as sincere a tribute as the corps of newsmen from every section of the country and of all manner of political faiths, ever gave a new President. His manner was so cordial, his responses so satisfying, and a humorous reference or two so genuine the correspondents trooped out into the White House grounds and had their pictures taken in the act of hurrahing and waving the new executive.

Mr. Coolidge came through with flying colors his first encounter with the newspaper men, who meet a President twice a week to ask him all manner of questions in behalf of American newspaper readers.

Standing with a sheaf of two-written questions before him, the President glanced through them. As fast as he could read them he gave his responses. The correspondents were permitted to learn his views on the coal situation, on agriculture, on Mexico, on the Harding Cabinet, on economy and the budget on his summer plans, on the Ruhr, on emigration.

At the outset it was again made unmistakable clear that President Coolidge intends to make President Harding's policies his policies in dealing with the many important problems before the Government and pressing for solution. The statement of his policies and his position made by Mr. Coolidge soon after taking the presidential oath still stands. He found no reason to qualify that statement today. What ever changes come in the policy will not come primarily as a result of the change of Administration but due to changing conditions. The same changes might well have been made had Mr. Harding lived.

No direct mention was made of President Harding's proposal of the adherence of the United States to the World Court, but the definite and emphatic outline given in President Coolidge's attitude on the Harding policies generally was accepted as indication of his position on the question. Authoritative intimation of the attitude of the Coolidge Administration on other questions follow:

Allied debts—The United States desires to collect all debts due. A beginning has been made in refunding the British debt and there will be no change in policy.

The Cabinet—President Coolidge desires every member of the Harding Cabinet to remain in office. All members of the cabinet are now back in Washington with the exception of Secretary Mellon, and Mr. Coolidge is confident that he will continue at his post.

Special session of Congress—The President knows of nothing at this time necessitating the calling of an extra session, but if a situation arises requiring the presence of Congress he will not hesitate to call it back to Washington.

Agriculture situation: The President has the greatest sympathy with farmers struggling against adverse conditions, but no legislation so far suggested to him would warrant the

PARADE WAS BEST EVER SEEN HERE

The firemen's parade at noon today was the best ever seen in this, the Central District. Never before did the fire laddies appear to a better advantage. Every company from every town in the district came with their uniforms and equipment in excellent shape and each view with the other for the nice string of prizes hung up by the general committee which certainly is to be complimented on the way they put it across.

Leading the parade were the Chiefs and ex-chiefs, honored members of the various companies in the district and the grand marshals looking their best. The DuBois Shop Band led with the musical end and they were very properly placed. They were dressed in natty white uniforms and marched with a snap and precision that won for them long applause. Following them came the black attired DuBois firemen and the contrast in colors gave the parade a sprightly appearance as it swung around the corner into view. The turnout was fine, they having almost two hundred in line. The DuBois delegation was followed by the Bingville Department which "started the war", "ended it" and did a lot of other things, according to their announcements.

Hope No. 2 of Phillipsburg was there in large numbers in their long blue coats, followed by the Phillipsburg City Band, an organization that any city ought to be proud of. Their chemical truck brought up the rear.

Then came the surprise of the parade—Morrisdale—with as fine a looking bunch of men as ever graced a firemen's parade and a lot of them too. Their new steel gray uniforms were a distinct hit. They were led by the Morrisdale Boys Band, an organization that is too well known to need much mention. They are always favorites.

The Citizens Company of Tyrone followed with its equipment and a large delegation in olive shirts. Their truck had a guard of honor in red shirts which set the whole thing off beautifully. They had two trucks in line. The Citizens Company was followed by the Blazing Arrow Company in red shirts and blue trousers, presenting a pleasing appearance and giving just a hint of old-time firemen's costumes. Osceola was represented by a truck properly manned, and its neighbor, Houtzdale, with a

BOY, 6, STRUCK BY CAR TODAY FATALLY HURT

An accident which surgeons declare will result fatally, marred the big day of the Firemen's Convention this morning when an auto driven by Harry Phillips of the West Side hit the little six-year-old son of Mike Frederick, inflicting injuries of a serious nature.

According to eye witnesses the accident was unavoidable, the Phillips car running at a very moderate rate of speed. Near the corner of Merrill and Front street the little fellow ran out in the road in front of the car and the fender struck him at the base of the skull. He was picked up and rushed to the hospital, where his condition is very critical and there is no hope for his recovery.

Mr. Phillips stopped his car within a car length after the collision with the boy, has the reputation of being a very careful driver, and so far as meagre information at hand shows, is blameless.

OSCEOLA BUSINESS MEN HONOR YOUNG SCOUT LIFE SAVER

The monthly meeting of the Osceola Commercial Club was held in the new Masonic building on Tuesday evening, August 14th. With nearly all members present and a few invited guests, the meeting went off with a bang.

During the dinner, which was elegantly served by the ladies of the Osceola Methodist church, John K. Miller, of Tyrone, well known as a singer of merit, sang several selections which brought storms of applause. He was accompanied by Mr. Cree, also of Tyrone.

The speaker for the evening was Thos. M. Morgan, of Williamsport, secretary of the Clothiers' Association of Pennsylvania. His subject was "Organization," and he drove in to the hearts and minds of his audience many essentials which are necessary for successful organization.

The next item of interest was the presentation of a loving cup by the club to Raymond Carroll for his bravery in rescuing Frank Warner, a Phillipsburg boy, from a gas filled well at Camp Phillips on July 24th. The presentation speech was made by Rev. J. W. Skillington, of the Methodist church, and the occasion was most impressive. Both boys were present and each made a speech, as also did the fathers of the young fellows, James Carroll, of Osceola Mills, and F. W. Warner, of Phillipsburg.

Philipsburg Rotarians Hear Tyrone Road Will Be Opened August 24th

While no business of importance was taken up at Tuesday evening's Rotary meeting a most profitable and interesting time prevailed, it being "Testimonial Night," and Rev. Stephen McGorray was in charge.

Many members were called upon to tell what Rotary has meant to them and in most cases the idea of service was brought out in their experiences. H. B. Scott brought some interesting news to the club as well as to the people of the community in general—official word from Harrisburg to Clark Bros., road contractors on the mountain road between here and Tyrone, to open the new road for travel on the morning of Friday, August

Berlin, Aug. 16.—One man was killed and 12 Communists and 46 Monarchists arrested early today as a result of bitter rioting in Armstadt when Monarchists attempted to prevent printing of a Communist newspaper.

Other minor disorders were reported from many districts but on the whole the internal situation seemed to be clearing as Chancellor Stresemann's new government began to earnest its work of pacifying the republic and building up defense against France.

In the Halle and Red Saxony districts, however, it was indicated drastic measures might be necessary before complete order was restored.

Communists near Halle were reported driving workers from the field, seizing food and supplies and burning growing wheat crops. Similar disorders occurred in other sections of Saxony.

KLAN TO GET VALPARAISO UNIV.

Indianapolis, Aug. 15.—Negotiations have been completed for the taking over of Valparaiso University, located at Valparaiso, Ind., by the Ku Klux Klan organization. It was announced here tonight by Milton Elrod, editor of the "Flory Cross," official publication of the Klan.

The university, which is one of the oldest educational institutions in the country, will be called the National University, Elrod said.

SERIOUS RIOT AT STUBENVILLE AS KLAN IS ATTACKED

Staubenville, O., Aug. 16.—Darwin L. Gibson, member of the part of the Ku Klux Klan mobbed here last night, will recover, it was said today at Gill hospital where he was taken after being shot in the head from ambush. The shooting of Gibson climaxed a free-for-all fight when over 1,000 persons joined in an attack on the Klan party, which numbered about 100 persons, as they were leaving their meeting hall.

Twelve automobiles were wrecked and when police came to the scene in answer to a riot call, 12 persons were counted among the injured.

The fighting was said to have been the outgrowth of Tuesday's primary election, in which four Klan candidates were successful.

Staubenville and Jefferson county authorities today promised to investigate.

OLD FASHIONED CLOCKS

In lots of jewelry repair shops a casual glance is given these clocks and, "it can't be fixed," is the answer. Here we make a specialty of repairing these clocks and will go to any length to have them running for you. You would not like to have them running. It's quite a knack to repair these old-fashioned clocks. It requires the making of a piece right here in our shop, as the makers have gone out of business. But we know that these clocks are often time-hallowed heirlooms and you want them to run.

table, as the country would obtain a fine estimate of him if the interview could be related in question-and-answer form. The interview opened with Gus J. Karger, veteran representative of the Cincinnati Times-Star, explaining the rule of the past governing White House press conferences, and an inquiry as to whether Mr. Coolidge wished to adhere to the established order. The President does. He prefers the form of written question adopted by President Harding, but it is not sure that on some dull day he may not be willing to submit to oral inquiries.

Setting of the Room.
President Coolidge had almost a clean desk. The room was not altered much from the date of President Harding's final press conference. The gold clock on the mantel was gone but its glass cover remained. Several large stools of office had been cleared. The mahogany letter trays were bare. A golf bag and a golf bag were replaced by a single brass ash tray and match rack. President's engagement card was before him. There were less than a dozen letters on the left side of the desk. The familiar stack of Washington, Philadelphia, and New York newspapers—topped by the Marion Star—was not in evidence.

The President remained seated until the stragglers in the press corps filed in. Then he arose. Back of him stood Arnold Landvoigt and George Dinecher, secret service men, as before. Judson C. Welliver, Mr. Harding's editorial aide was there with a pencil behind his ear, and retiring secretary George Christian leaned against the windows overlooking the sloping grounds of the white lot. In back of the crowd was "Dick" Jarvis, familiar figure on the running boards of Presidential cars in many cities for several years. Thus does a White House go on.

MEXICO CONFIDENT RECOGNITION WILL BE FORTHCOMING

Mexico City, Mex., Aug. 16.—So confident is Mexico that recommendations of the conference just ended here call for recognition of the Obregon government by the United States that they are considering a note to President Coolidge asking that Charles B. Warren, American commissioner who played a leading part in the negotiations, be appointed ambassador to Mexico City. Warren is very popular here both with government officials and civilians. He knows Mexican law as do few Mexicans and his part in the discussion just concluded is discussed as generous and unselfish. The American commissioners, Warren and John Payne, are enroute to Laredo and tomorrow will enter Washington, where they will lay before the administration the result of the conference.

Philipsburg Rotarians PARADE WAS BEST

There is a big celebration being planned for this day and arrangements will no doubt be completed to journey to Tyrone over the new road with parties from neighboring towns and then Tyrone will return along to enjoy a big dinner at The Philip. This piece of road marks a very important link on the Lake-to-Sea highway, and should be fittingly observed.

Following Winburne was the Clearfield band. Johnsonburg had a band and presented a number of appearances in their purple uniforms with peculiar collars with white gloves. The Lanes truck presented that city. The American Legion band of Clearfield and the Clearfield band went brought to a very pretty pageant.

Studebaker
THE BIG-SIX SPEEDSTER, COMPLETELY EQUIPPED AS ILLUSTRATED, $1885
$45,000,000 Worth of Studebaker Big-Sixes in 1922
The public paid more than forty-five million dollars for new Studebaker Big-Six automobiles in 1922, buying more of this model than of any other car selling in the same price field.
In the entire world there were only eleven other automobile manufacturers whose total sale of all models equaled the sale of Studebaker Big-Sixes for 1922, and no other manufacturer sold as many cars of the Big-Six class. In addition to the Big-Six, Studebaker builds the Special-Six and the Light-Six in large volume.
For the first quarter of 1923, Big-Six sales showed an increase of 70 per cent over the same period of 1922, evidencing the growing popularity of this model. Big-Six popularity is the result of Big-Six superiority. Materials and workmanship are unequaled in any car at any price, and unequaled in any car at the Big-Six price.
With its long 126-inch wheel base, big 4 1/2-inch tires, heavy frame, scientifically distributed load, long Studebaker-made springs, the Big-Six Speedster rides more comfortably than most cars selling at much more money. Its 37 1/2 x 5 motor delivers a world of power, plenty of speed and a quickness of getaway hard to equal.
The price is the result of quantity production.

ODDS AND ENDS
AND THINGS

By J. B. C.

The statement that Calvin Coolidge is the poorest man who ever entered the White House is contradicted by the known facts in the lives of some of his predecessors. The new President, as is well known, is a man of very moderate means, but there have been other Presidents who were equally lacking in worldly goods, and several who unquestionably were poorer off than he.

Lincoln was a poor man when he was elected President, and had he lived to serve out his term he would perhaps have retired worth only a few hundred dollars more than when he entered. Both he and Mrs. Lincoln were very liberal and gave away a great deal of money to people in distress.

Another poor man elected to the Presidency was McKinley. He was not only poor, but was in debt. By frugal management and the assistance of friends he was accumulating money when the assassin's bullet ended his life.

James Monroe entered the White House a very poor man, and he retired almost penniless. He lived well, but not extravagantly, while President, and he died so poor that he was buried at the expense of relatives. It took just 162 words to tell in his will what he wished done with the few dollars he left.

On the other hand, the most of the Presidents have been comfortably fixed financially, and some of them were exceedingly rich, according to the standard of their times. George Washington, for instance, had so much money and property to dispose of that his will covered twenty closely written pages, and if put into type would make five columns of an ordinary newspaper.

Van Buren was so wealthy that he did not trouble himself to draw his salary until the expiration of his four years, when he signed for an even $100,000. When he died he left a fortune of nearly half a million dollars.

John Adams died moderately well off, leaving about $75,000. His son, John Quincy Adams, died a rich man. He owned immense properties in Boston and Washington. Polk, Fillmore and Pierce were all rich men when elected President. Polk left an estate valued at $150,000. Fillmore was always frugal and added to his savings by marrying a woman of wealth, and was worth about $200,000. Pierce's estate was valued at about $50,000.

Thomas Jefferson, according to history, always put on a large amount of style and was rated as a very rich man, but in old age he was reduced to hard-pan and died so poor that if Congress had not purchased his library at $20,000 he would have been a pauper James Madison had a good bank account and considerable real estate when he became President, and it had not dwindled perceptibly when he retired. Andrew Jackson was another who was comfortably rich when he was chosen President. Buchanan was wealthy, too, as was also Andrew Johnson, but the latter was impoverished before death by assuming the debts of his son.

William Henry Harrison saved a goodly sum before becoming President. His grandson, Benjamin Harrison, was likewise economical and did worth $250,000. John Tyler added to his wealth by marrying a rich woman. Cleveland was a poor man when he entered the White House, but was quite wealthy at the conclusion of his second term. Grant managed to accumulate considerable money while in the Presidency but lost his fortune in the Grant & Ward failure. Hayes was always frugal and added to his fortune, while Garfield was only moderately well off. Roosevelt had a substantial competence. Taft was comfortably well off, while Wilson has royalties from his books and his second wife is a woman of wealth. Mr. Harding, according to report, was worth between $50,000 and $100,000. Arthur was the most extravagant of Presidents and left only a moderate fortune.

Comes Down Slowly.
The resistance that a falling parachute offers to the air is greatly influenced by its shape. The latest one-man parachute, made of silk, varies from 18 to 30 feet in diameter, is slightly concave and offers sufficient resistance to the air, so that when carrying a man the rate of descent will not be more than 15 to 20 feet per second.

COOLIDGE MEANT JUST WHAT HE SAID

Those doubting Thomases who have been perturbed at what might happen to the national welfare because of President Coolidge's succession, had their answer, yesterday. The definite re-assertion of the Harding program, foreign and domestic, by the President, and a united and harmonious Cabinet will show the country that Mr. Coolidge meant what he said the morning President Harding died. It will be received everywhere with relief and profound satisfaction.

Mr. Coolidge's first Cabinet meeting possessed a significance which may attach to no other assemblage of his official advisers during the entire course of his incumbency. For its decisions and the relations which were found to exist among its members will be universally interpreted as marking the keynote of the Coolidge administration; the seal of its stability and the index of its intelligent determination.

The promise to adhere to the Harding policies made by Mr. Coolidge in his earliest announcement to the people must now be accepted everywhere, at home and abroad, at full par value. And the re-assertion by all the members of the Cabinet of their intention to retain their places and discharge their duties as though there had been no interruption of the continuity of their tenure is an assurance to the country against the swirling uncertainty that often attends a change so momentous as the installation of a new directing head of the Federal Government.

But the Cabinet went further than merely to make general promises in dealing with all unfinished issues and problems. There was comfort and re-assurance for the people of the Middle Atlantic and New England States in the statement that measures would be omitted to protect their interests in the event of a fuel supply in the event of a strike and that it would be the purpose of the Federal authorities to see that adequate fuels were forthcoming.

In the wider field of foreign relations the accord of the Cabinet was no less reassuring. The definite announcement was made that the Coolidge administration would stand firmly by the policies formulated in Secretary Owen's New Haven speech last December. In that carefully worded utterance the Secretary made it plain that while the United States was by no means indifferent to the problems and ills of Europe, and stood ready to contribute its share in adjustment, the question was essentially an European one, the crux of which was reparations.

In re-affirming this general position of helplessness and impartiality with respect to reparations, the Government stands by its policy that the foreign war debts owed to the country must be paid, holding now, as it did then, that "the capacity to pay is not at all affected by the indebtedness of any of the Allies to us." The march of events in Europe, and especially in the Ruhr, has not materially changed this position, but has strengthened the determination of this Government not to be drawn into the disputes of the Allies as a party, or otherwise, unless and until invited by all the parties interested. The President and the Cabinet are no more interested today than they were in December, when Secretary Owen enunciated the Government's policy, to be drawn into the conflict of interests and ambitions which are now severing the Allies and increasing the difficulties of a settlement.

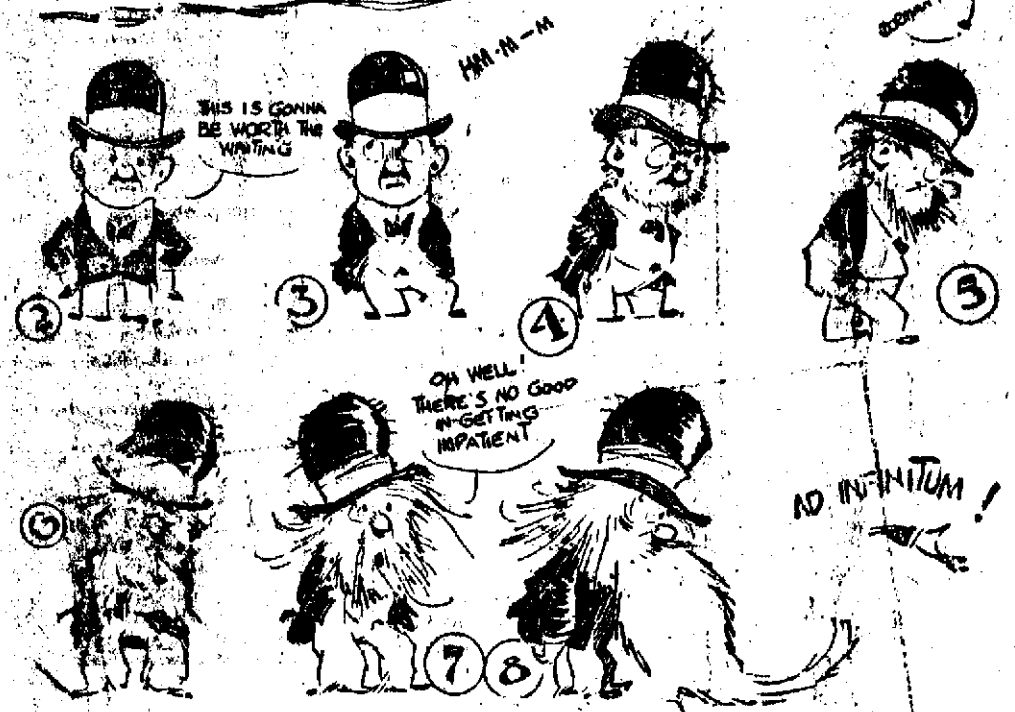

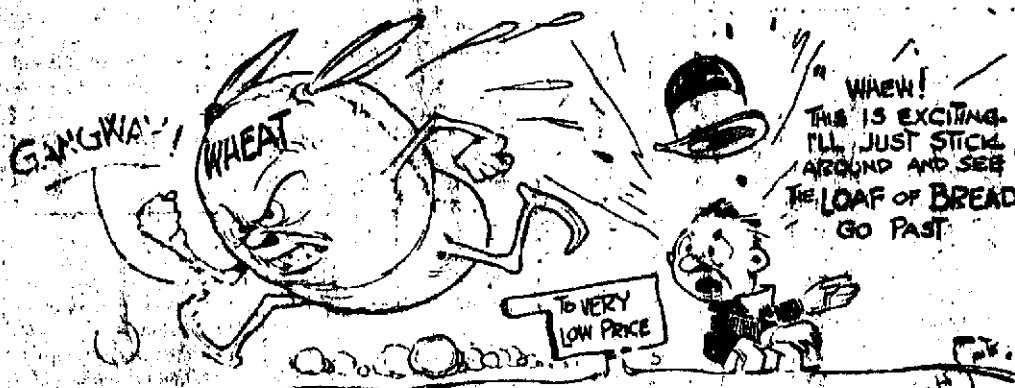

With the President and Cabinet united and harmonious, the country may rest content that the Government's prudent policy will not be altered, that it has not been affected by the propaganda from British sources devised to draw us into the maelstrom of European politics and that without seeking to intrude in those troubled waters it still holds itself in readiness to fulfill its obligations to civilization and humanity to keep the peace and contribute to the limit of its ability to the restoration of a disorganized and demoralized world. Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Progress Editorial For Women

FASHION AND FITNESS

By FLORENCE DAVIES

A certain New York business man and the Pope at Rome hold at least one view in common. The New York business man, tired of walking into his office and having an uneasy feeling that he had surprised a number of young women in their boudoirs or on the bathing beach, because of the array of bare arms and necks, finally made up his mind that his office was no place for half-dressed women. So he summoned one of the young ladies and told her that her job would be waiting for her if she cared to exchange herself and go home and put some clothes on.

The young lady was doubtless highly incensed. But good jobs, weren't plentiful, so she departed and unbuttoned a frock with at least a semblance of decency. The next day some of the other young ladies took the hint and saved up a few alt seams. Doubtless these modern business girls were no more highly affronted than the tourists in Rome who had been granted an audience with the Pope, but who found their way barred because they presented themselves with bare arms and necks. Their tears and protests were of avail when a richly garbed Holy Father explained to them that the Pope didn't approve of modern fashions. A hurried visit to the nearest shop resulted in the purchase of enough tulle to drape arms and shoulders and some of the visitors were allowed to enter, but surely not without some chagrin.

There is certainly nothing wicked about a bare arm or even about the curves of a lovely shoulder. But the designers of the sleeveless frock never intended their creations to be worn in a business office or on the public highway.

Yet for some strange reason women persist in these glaring inconsistencies in dress.

Many a woman who would not think of serving pie for breakfast or oatmeal for dinner, blandly appears in a business office in a frock which must have been designed for a ball room, or a formal dinner. A man who appeared at the office of a morning in his dinner jacket would instantly be set down as either a little crazy or else certainly suffering from the effects of too much conviviality the night before.

Perhaps American women are the worst offenders in this matter of the lack of fitness in dress.

An American woman wears a beaded sleeveless gown on the street and may appear at dinner in the evening in a blouse if it suits her fancy; while an English woman wears a doecollet, dinner gown if the frock is ten years old and a little frayed and faded. But the changes are that she would find a frock with sleeves and without too many beads to wear to business.

The matter seems all the more strange when you remember that American women, when they want to be, are undoubtedly the best dressed women in the world. They know how to combine dash and smartness with good taste and comfort when they want to. Why, then, will they, with all their unmistakable flair for good dressing, let their sense of fitness so often utterly desert them?

Though the rebuke must have been humiliating, the Pope rendered women a very real service when he reminded us of the proprieties, and the business man who did the same thing just proved how easy it would be to create a better standard of taste among business women if the men said what they really think about it.

HEARD ALONG THE BANKS OF THE MOSHANNON

The Union Sunday School picnic will be held at Lakeside park, Morrisdale, Aug. 23rd. The union picnic is always one of the largest gatherings at that popular playground. Besides music, races and other diversions will be in order.

The silver jubilee of the ordination of Rev. Father E. J. Fischer, of St. Agnes Catholic church, Morrisdale, will be celebrated Tuesday, Aug. 21, with the following in order during the day. Solemn high field mass church lawn, 9:30 a. m., parade to Lakeside park; basket picnic; public reception, 2:30 p. m. Hon. Single-ton Bell, of Clearfield, chairman; banquet, Morrisdale band; banquet for invited guests 6 p. m. C. P. Maxwell, toastmaster; entertainment at park, 9 p. m. A feature of the day will be the presence of the three mothers of Father Fischer, all priests. They will assist at the mass and take part in the other doings of the day. The field mass, a very rare thing, will be the first of its kind to be held in this section. The celebration is expected to be the biggest affair held at Lakeside park since its opening. Rev. Fischer has had charge of the Morrisdale church 23 years. He is known for miles around as a eloquent speaker and is held in high esteem by his parishioners as well as the people of other denominations.

Swarthmore Chautauqua is now in full blast at Philipsburg. Every evening the spacious tent is crowded with people, who greatly enjoy the fine entertainment given by the members. With the presence of Chautauqua the town seems to be in the midst of a week of holidays.

A heated argument ensued when a Hawk Run man driving a big car ran into a Ford which was parked along the state highway with two wheels on the cement. The accident happened a few nights ago. The driver of the car must have been coming at a pretty lively gait for the Ford was knocked from the road a distance of about 20 yards. The party in the big car stated the Ford had not been off the cement at all until he collided with it, while the owner of the Ford declared two wheels were on the cement. Under the new law the argument was only a waste of time since the regulations require the entire four wheels to be off the cement. To make matters worse the car was wrecked on a curve.

Mrs. Helen Carve, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Carve, former pastor of the Morrisdale Methodist Episcopal church, was united in marriage at Oak Park III Wednesday Aug. 8 to Mr. Ralph Bridgman Taylor. Friends here extend hearty felicitations.

Charles A. English, of Graham township, passed away Monday August 13, the result of a lingering illness from tuberculosis. He was 65 years old and well known for miles around. He was left to rest this

Wednesday afternoon in the Fairview cemetery.

Joseph Mekita, of Morrisdale, was injured while at work in the No. 9 shaft of the Morrisdale Coal Company Tuesday. He was working on a chain machine and sustained a compound fracture of the lower leg. He is now at the Cottage State hospital. Mrs. Juneta Lafey, of Hawk Run, who only recently was enabled to leave the Clearfield hospital following the amputation of one of her lower limbs, was again admitted to the hospital a few days ago and will no doubt have to undergo another operation, the limb, which was infected following a severe attack of pneumonia in the winter months, not healing up as it should. Mrs. Lafey has been bedfast most of the time since January. Her many friends are hoping that she may soon be able to stand and once again enjoy good health.

A large crowd from this section are contemplating attending the annual Frenchville picnic to be held August 22nd. Picnic day at that place is always a big affair and attended by hundreds.

"Tucker's Moriarty, 5 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Moriarty, of Hawk Run, who was run down by a big car at Morrisdale Sunday while on his way home from Sunday school sustained a compound fracture of the thigh and severe head bruises, and who was patient at the Cottage hospital at Philipsburg, is getting along finely. The first night at the hospital the other patients heard loud cries coming from the direction of little Tommy's cot and on inquiring what was the matter the little boy answered he wanted to take part in the parade and be present at

Father Fischer's silver jubilee celebration, and since he got "dat ole accident" he was afraid he couldn't go. The little lad, strong and sturdy, though too young to go to Sunday school for the purpose of learning his lessons, went merely so he could participate in the parade on the day of the jubilee celebration. Because he was so much interested he and another little boy from Hawk Run were placed at the head of the children's parade. This pleased "Tucker" and he drilled correctly. On a visitation at the hospital from Father Fischer who was told of what the little one was worried about, the reverend at once told Tommy that if his limb was in a cast at that time he would see that the boy took part in the parade and activities of the day by getting a cast for him to ride in on that day. Tommy replied that he would sooner walk. It was evident from the first that the very painful injuries of the limb were not bothering him as much as the fact that he might miss the parade. He is a favorite of all the nurses and in fact is liked by all who know him for his manly ways and big heart.

HORSESHOE MATTERS

As some teams are not prepared for the round robin games scheduled for August, it is necessary to know just who is to pitch in the elimination to be played the first two weeks in September, which will close the formal season. Any new men wishing to come in for the finals or any teams enrolled at present who do not intend to appear will kindly notify their ward chairman or the secretary at 213 Locust street so the elimination will not be spoiled by non-appearing teams. The thought now is to play them on the Keystone courts which are lighted. By running games every evening the series can be finished in two weeks.

COMMUNITY NEWS

Witmer is far ahead in the horse shoe game and gaining every day. Something has hoodooed East End, the champs of the first of the season, while Reedsville is gradually creeping up. The standings now are: Witmer, 12; East End and Reedsville, tied at 7, and West Side 1.

The following scores are responsible for the ratings.

The East End pitching courts are finally in after so long a time. That three of the grounds are now equipped with the only kind of court to really pitch in.

West Side had its third successful picnic yesterday, this time going far afield to the Pee Wee's Nest. Over twenty went—as many as one supervisor would wish to manage—and the good time goes without saying.

Must Jump In.
The fact is that to do anything in this world worth doing, we must not stand back shivering and thinking of the cold and danger, but jump and scramble through as well as we can.—Sydney Smith.

Acorn Alcohol.
Up to the present time no industrial use has been made of acorns, but recent experiments show that alcohol can be made from them. Shelled acorns contain about 40 per cent of starch which can be readily saccharified and then converted into alcohol.

As to Choles.
"Some day," said Uncle Eben, "I may feel dat it's up to me to go on one of dese here hunger strikes. If it ever happens it'll have to be at de time of year when it's too late for spring chickens an' too early for watermelon."

They Are Still Coming!

Hundreds of people of Clearfield and vicinity have shared in these bargains—many come back three or four times.

"Waverly" represents 43 years experience in the refining of quality petroleum products. Highest standards of manufacture are maintained.

Waverly Motor Oils are refined from Pennsylvania paraffine base crudes exclusively. A refined product would use Pennsylvania crude if there was enough of it to go around.

Waverly Motor Products insure clean operation. Motor Oils are filtered, not acid treated. Greases are all lubricant—no filler. Gasolines contain no dirty, heavy ends.

Waverly Gasoline is power to the last drop; no "clunkers" or unexplodable residue at low temperatures. Consequently, more power, minimum dilution of motor oil, freedom from carbon, easy starting and less cost per mile.

Waverly Motor Oils seal piston rings perfectly, distribute persistently on frictioning parts and thus conserve power. Because they are "Waverly" and "All Pennsylvania" they lubricate and do not "break" at high temperatures.

Waverly Greases give maximum, long-time lubrication and mean less wear, less repair and longer auto life.

Satisfactory, low-cost car operation, Winter and Summer, results from the regular use of Waverly Products.

Curwensville's Own Column

Miss Anna Reugax, of Niagara Falls, is a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vince DePalma.

"Tad!" Way an old time Curwensville boy now located in Piquette, Mich. and engaged in the wholesale flour and feed trade, dropped in on his old friends yesterday for a few hours chat.

At a stated meeting of Joshua Earl Ship Post No. 565, American Legion, Tuesday evening, Comrade Paul G. Robinson was elected as delegate to the State convention to be held in Reading August 30th, to September 1st. Comrade Clarence Ammenman was chosen as the alternate representative.

St. Richards, J., is nursing a very painful wound in the shape of an abscess on the back of the right hand brought about from a slight bruise received a few days ago.

Andy Murphy and son of Pittsburgh were Curwensville visitors for a few hours yesterday afternoon. The Murphy family were former residents.

The ladies of Curwensville have organized a plan for selling Labor Day Ties to each family and were successful in Curwensville. Many of the Yellow Dogs have already paid their dollar to H. V. Smith, Secretary of the Yellow Dogs. This dollar will go into the Yellow Dog fund. If he is a wife and two sons. If he is a single man he will be entitled to one dollar. The ladies will deliver the ties. This plan is that each head of a family will pay one dollar for two ties for himself and wife, and each son and wife will pay one dollar for one tie.

These Tags are specially made for Curwensville, Clearfield and all contiguous territory. Clearfield has already responded very graciously and neighborly. Many of the Yellow Dogs here, and a few others have remitted a dollar or more for the benefit of Irvin Park.

The Chief Cur was hailed at the Clearfield Hospital on Tuesday by H. Connolly. Mr. Connolly immediately said, "I am not 'Skinny', but I want this dollar to go straight to the Irvin Park". Fortunately "Skinny" had already paid a dollar. This mere shows the spirit of many of the Clearfield men.

The women on Friday of this week between the hours of 2 o'clock and 7 p. m., will call at each home in Curwensville to deliver the 400 per cent Tag and receive the dollar. Please be ready with the dollar, if you have not already paid, and thus facilitate the work of the women of Curwensville. Where they have failed to secure a dollar for two tags from each head of the family, or a dollar from any other wage earner for one tag, then a special committee will be appointed to make the second visit to the home to see if by any way Curwensville cannot put out its 100 Per cent Banner on Labor Day.

Dodge Makes Many Big Improvements In 1924 Models Now On Display

Marked improvement in appearance and comfort is apparent in the new line of Dodge Brothers Motor Cars, in the production of which the factory has been gathering momentum since July 1. Hundreds of dealers are now supplied with display cars of the new type, and from every source the factory is receiving reports of enthusiastic approval by the public.

While the basic characteristics of the familiar Dodge Brothers cars of recent days are still present, there is an air of distinctiveness that surpasses all previous efforts of this concern to build a moderately priced car of commendable appearance as well as quality.

The wheelbase is a trifle longer, the body is lower and the rear springs changed to semi-elliptical type are underslung, and increased from 45 to 55 inches in length.

The effect of the longer and lower body and longer wheelbase, combined with the new lines and lower seats, is very fine. According to dealers and others who have driven the new cars, the improvement in riding qualities is no less pronounced than the improvement in general design. The reduction in body height lowers the center of gravity and thereby reduces side-sway, while rebound shocks are effectively dissipated by the improved front and rear springs. The car holds the road easily and gracefully and affords real riding comfort.

The rear seat and all upholstery of the touring car are removable, affording a large space for loading luggage or other articles. Seats in all types are deeper and lower, adding to comfort and leg room.

Brake pedal pads are larger and of a design which makes for greater ease and safety. The hand brake lever, like the shifting lever, is moved forward, giving more leg room and making it easier to get in and out. A Yale lock is built into the transmission, making it possible to double-lock the car when idle.

The sugar of fruit is usually an admixture of dextrose and levulose, and is called invert sugar. It is uncrystallizable and forms granular masses in dried fruit. It consists of five parts of levulose and three parts of hydrated dextrose, some of which arises by inversion of succharine.

FRIENDS NOTICED IMPROVEMENT

Wonderful Results from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Beloit, Wis.—"My female trouble was brought on by overwork. I had worked in stores and had to do heavier work than my strength could stand, and had to be on my feet most of the time. Finally I had to give up this work entirely and stay at home. Doctor's medicine did not give me much relief, and my mother wanted me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took a couple of bottles of it and thought it didn't help me as much as I should, so I gave it up to try something else. Nothing I took helped me much, so I finally decided to give the Vegetable Compound another trial and to take enough of it to make sure it would help me. I have taken it over a year now and it has brought wonderful results. I have gained from 35 to 110 pounds and am keeping house now. My friends all notice the change in my health. I will be glad to answer all letters that women write to me about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. W. G. Monson, 1515 Park Ave., Beloit, Wis. Mrs. Monson is willing to write to any woman suffering from such troubles.
